WHAT IS YOUR SAFE DEPOSIT IQ?

Q. How much does a safe deposit box cost?

A. As little as $6.00 per year, less than the cost of two packages of cigarettes per month. The cost is regulated by the cubic inch capacity of the box. At the present time there is a 10 per cent federal tax added to our rental fee.

Q. Can the Bank enter my safe deposit box?

A. No. At the time the box is rented the customer is given the only two keys to the box. However, if a renter abandons the box or fails to pay the rental, the Bank after sending the customer a notice of intention to drill may forcibly open the box. This entry is witnessed by three persons and the contents, if any, are inventoried.

Q. Why is it necessary to have two keys to open the boxes?

A. The requirement of two keys, the customer's key and the Bank's preparatory key, gives the Bank supervision over each entry, and acts as a safeguard against an unauthorized access.

Q. What happens if I lose my key?

A. If you lose one key, you will be able to make the entry with the second. Two identical keys are issued with each rental. If you are unable to locate the lost key, a new lock will be installed with two new keys. If you have lost both keys, there is but one way to make an entrance. Drill the box open. This will be done by a mechanic, in the presence of the renter.

Q. Can the government open my box or force the Bank to open it?

A. The government can, by court order, direct us to open a safe deposit box. This is seldom done and only in case of litigation.

Q. Can more than one person have access to my safe deposit box?

A. A safe deposit box may be rented by one person or two, as joint tenants. In a few cases there are more than two persons on a contract. We also rent boxes to corporations, partnerships, lodges, clubs and associations.

Q. Are the boxes fireproof?

A. The boxes are lodged in fireproof vaults and each individual box is placed in its own guarded receptacle.

Q. Are there any restrictions as to what I can put in my safe deposit box?

A. To the ordinary law abiding person there are very few restrictions on what you may put in the box. A few such exceptions are explosives, narcotics, liquids or any articles of offensive nature.

Q. If my husband and I have a joint box and one should die, could the other party enter the box immediately?

A. The first access after the death of a box renter must be attended by a representative of the County Treasurer's Office, who will inventory the contents of the box for tax purposes. After this requirement is met access is granted in the usual manner. The appointment with the representative can be arranged in a day or so.

Come in and talk to any Officer regarding a Safe Deposit Box. Rent one today for your own protection.

Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan ...

VETERANS HAVE VOICED enthusiasm for my fourth of July remarks before the Senate. We could make no more patriotic and fitting gesture for Independence Day, I said, than to create a Committee on Veterans' Affairs. We have 22 million veterans today. Together with their dependents, they represent almost half the population. We owe these patriotic men and women undivided consideration of their special problems.

My speech aimed to spark action on a resolution I introduced early this session to create a standing Senate Veterans Committee, Housing, insurance rehabilitation and scores of other matters important to vets deserve exclusive attention in the Senate. Right now, however, such bills are tossed to a couple of overworked committees, Finance and Labor. More often than not, veterans' measures gather dust while other bills receive priority. My resolution would correct this.

HARBOR MONEY for twelve vital Michigan projects has been okayed by the Senate Appropriations Committee. More than $17 million will be spent during the coming year on all types of harbor improvements, starting with the mammoth connecting channel job on the Great Lakes, down to the modest project at Harrisville. At the eleventh hour I was able to include three extra Michigan harbors—Big Bay, Lac Le Belle and Manistique. These, of course still require House action. Other Michigan items in the list include Battle Creek, Cheboygan, Houghton-Hancock Bridge, Saginaw River, St. Marys River, and Whitefish Point.

THE EARLY SETTLEMENT of Charlevoix occupied the site of an Indian village known as Pine River. Back in 1833 it was the scene of a skirmish between the first mainland settlers and the Mormons from Beaver Island. The battle caused the fishermen to abandon the colony for nearly a year in fear of reprisal by islanders.

Best Wishes.

The waters selected for this summer's planting are the spring pond at Wolf Lake hatchery, Wolf Lake, and the Pine and the Ausable Rivers, which were at one time among the finest grayling streams of the state.

Grayling's police force and Taylor, his assistant, were caught in a snail on Portage Lake last Sunday afternoon. In order to keep the boat from capsizing they were compelled to let it drift with the waves, benching it about half way from Collett's landing, where they wanted to go. Searching parties were out to find them, and it was by building huge fires on the shore of the lake at night that the weary wanderers were safely guided back to anxious friends, after about five hours of wandering in this previously unexplored jungle. Besides all this calamity Mike was worrying about his official responsibilities at home. He had in his pocket the keys to the electric light plant, also to the night alarm system at the Salling Hanson Co.'s store. Grayling was in darkness and the faithful guardian of the portals was lost and could not be found.

Approximately 12,000 horsepower of electrical energy will be at the disposal of Saginaw Valley early next year—possibly from the first of January.

Plans which are to harness the power of the Ausable River. Gilbert Vallad, of Maple Forest reports a fine crop of hay in that town, but early potatoes very light on account of the drought.

The Walsh Manufacturing Co. of Frederic have a large crew on the ground to rebuild the mill lately destroyed by fire. It will be much better in many ways than the old plant. ## Licensing Speech and Printing Press

The right to express one's opinions through advertising and other means, without undue or unusual restrictions or penalties certainly is a fundamental right in a free country. It is inextricably tied-in with the Constitutional rights of free speech and the free press.

Yet that right now seems to be in danger.

This danger comes from recent announcements made by the Federal Power Commission and the Internal Revenue Service. It concerns 59 electric utilities which have been using "opinion" advertising and pamphlets to oppose socialization of their industry, and to present the private enterprise side of the public-vs-private power issue. The FPC now holds that these companies improperly charged the advertising and pamphlets to operating expense. The IRS adds that the cost of the advertising and pamphlets is not an allowable deduction for tax purposes.

M. S. Rukeyser, the International News Service commentator says: "These seemingly innocuous bureaucratic ukases strike at the roots of our American competitive system, which rests on cultivation of a free market in ideas and ideologies." Editor & Publisher says: "It strikes us that this is a two-pronged assault to eliminate eventually the use of advertising to express an opinion or a political philosophy." And Robert U. Brown, writing in a later issue of the same magazine, says: "It seems to us that some people in Washington are not only intent on imposing a tax on published opinions, but also are treading dangerously close to licensing speech and the printing press."

The precedent the FPC and IRS are establishing—if allowed to stand—is staggering. Under it, any group in power could restrict and in many cases prevent expression of opinion by any opposing group, on questions of economics, politics or anything else. That is one of the ways dictatorships are created.

Roscoe Pound, the famous former Dean of the Harvard Law School, finds that legal privileges formerly accorded certain classes—such as the nobility and landowners—have long been disappearing, but that a new favored class has arisen made up of labor unions and their officials and members. These, he writes, now have the liberty "to commit wrongs to person and property, to interfere with the use of highways, to break contracts to deprive individuals of the means of earning a livelihood, to control the activities of the individual workers and their local organizations by national organizations centrally and arbitrarily administered beyond the reach of state laws, and to misuse trust funds—things which no one else can do with impunity."

Heat Slows Down Junior Softball League

Due to the extreme hot weather last week, there was limited action in the Junior Softball League. Only two double headers were played. The seventh and eighth grade teams A and B split a double header Thursday and Friday.

In the night cap, team A evened things up by edging past team B with a score of 15-14. Jim Wakeley received the win with Bill Brown taking the defeat.

Monday team B of the third and fourth grade boys trounced team A by the score of 36 to 19. John Sorenson got the win with Kim Lovely taking the loss. Both pitchers went the distance.

The only other double header played last week was between team A and B of the fifth and sixth grade. Team B took the first half of the double header when they slipped past team A by 12 to 10.

In the girls game team A came up with six runs in the first inning to go on and win 21 to 6 over team B. Kay Thompson took the defeat although she struck out 10 batters. Sarah Gierick was the winning pitcher.

Friday afternoon team B of the 9th and 10th grade downed team A by the score of 20 to 11. Jim Rusk took the win with Jinx Gust taking the loss.

This Wednesday afternoon, the third, fourth and fifth grade boys will pit their skill against the girls softball team. The public is invited to come out for the game.

Episcopal Mission

After graduation from college she was employed in the Department of Christian Education at St. Paul's Cathedral in Detroit and in January of 1957 went to Wayne State University as secretary to the advisor of foreign students there.

The Rev. and Mrs. Campbell will make their home in Grayling at 527 North Main Street. They will divide their time equally between the two missions.

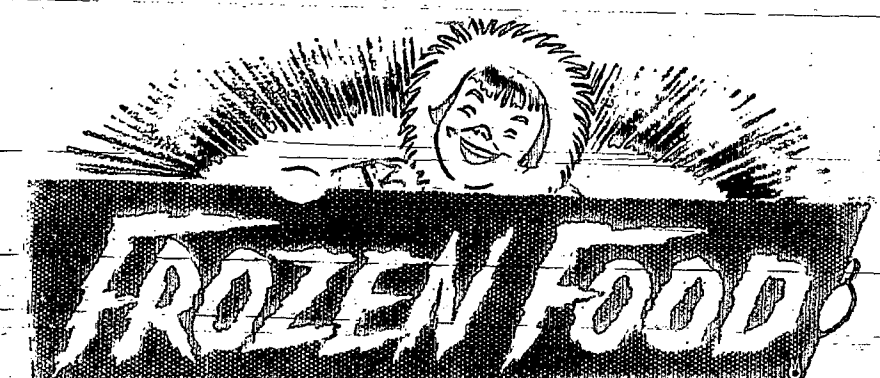

St. Francis' welcomes Mr. Campbell and looks forward to a steady growth in the church under his supervision. The mission opened less than a year ago with its first service on November 4. During these early months the Rev. Sidney Rood of All Saints Episcopal Church, Houghton Lake has been in charge. Mr. Rood will continue to visit St. Francis' on the first Sunday of the month for the celebration of holy communion until such time when Mr. Campbell will be ordained and qualified to assume full responsibility of all services and duties of the Episcopal mission.

The Rev. Mr. Rood has made lasting friendships in Grayling during his nine months ministry here. He will cherish the memory of his invaluable assistance in helping to establish a mission in Grayling.

State Taxpayers In Fish Bowl

TAXPAYERS will be in a gold-fish bowl this summer and on into the winter.

State government's major problem at the moment is how to finance its services and agencies without bankrupting the voter.

As the search for cash started, the state faces a deficit of more than $16,000,000 next year under a budget that does not include much needed new buildings.

A partially-completed 600-man prison at Ionia will stand unused for lack of money. It will house inmates, but the main functions of the training and educational phases will be shelved.

Both Democrats and Republicans agree Michigan's colleges and universities must have more money.

There are needs in mental health that must be met.

find a way to provide for these needs, which means that they will become more acute next year.

At the same time, business and industry is feeling the pangs of a heavy tax burden.

For a year, they have been saying they would like the state to expand in Michigan, but the "tax climate" of other states gives them more of a chance at a profit.

Some already have left or have expanded in other states, Republicans charge.

They claim that business and industry is carrying its limit in tax burdens now and the threat of a new six per cent corporation profits tax, proposed by Gov. Williams is the last straw.

Republicans have set up two tax

It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order once each week for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Crawford County Avalanche a newspaper printed and circulated in said County.

vamp the state's entire tax structure and spending policy.

The second, headed by Senator Clyde H. Gearlings (R-Holland) will investigate the effect on business and industry of present and proposed taxes — including Williams' idea.

Williams is critical of the Republican tax studies and is preparing to name his own "blue ribbon" citizens' committee to make an "impartial, unbiased study."

He said he would cooperate with the Republicans, but noted that their committees are both headed by legislators.

"Conlin said he would name a citizens' advisory committee to make the investigation, turning its findings to the legislature for action on policy matters."

Williams prefers the whole job done by a "blue ribbon" committee.

The charge group named by Republicans would not be critical of Republican past or future ideas. Republicans retort that a Williams commission would not turn thumbs down on a corporation profits tax.

The voter gets a chance to tell them who is right at the next election in 1958.

The stalemate continues.

The last tax study by an outside group developed as the "frictionless" four-year ago. It recommended a series of tax ideas, including levies on local bills, soft drinks, beer and others.

Williams has passed up no opportunity to mention it was financed by Republicans and that there was no mention in the report of a corporation profits tax.

There will probably be three sets of facts for the legislature to study next year and use to find answers to another mounting deficit.

The result after the 1958 legislative session a year from now will have more than academic interest.

DEMOCRATS ARE OUT TO TAKE OVER THE Michigan legislature.

It is the stated aim of the party, through its state chairman, Neil Staebler, to concentrate on the House and Senate in 1958 after winning almost everything else.

This year, the Democrats had 57 of the 110 House seats and 41 of the 23 Senate seats.

To tip the balance, the Democrats are going to have to go into the smaller towns, the hamlets, and some of the smaller of the large cities.

Staubler is a master at local organization and pace.

The areas Staebler will have to hit are Republican strongholds.

The battle will be on next year.

Fried chicken has always been a favorite with all of us. I'm giving you some of my latest ways of serving this wonderful American dish.

Southern FRIED CHICKEN

Dip pieces of chicken in 1/2 cup undiluted Carnation, then in 1/2 cup seasoned flour. Brown on all sides in 1/2 cup hot shortening. Reduce heat, cover, and cook until chicken is tender (about 35-40 minutes). Remove to basket or warm serving platter.

Fiesta FRIED CHICKEN

Cut 1 frying chicken in serving pieces. Dip in 1/4 cup undiluted Carnation, then in 1/2 cup seasoned flour. Brown on all sides in 1/2 cup hot shortening.
